DR. PACE'S WHIZ KIDS SERIES

"One thing we know about the most talented young doctors, drivers and musicians alike is that they rarely materialize like wizards. Someone helps."

TIME Magazine's issue on Secrets of Genius (12/20/13)

Dr. Pace has learned from her 30+ years of mentoring learners:

- 1. Ability: Young people harbor abundant talent and a virtually untapped, expansive ability to learn.
- 2. Mentors: Parents play a primary role in discovering and nurturing the talents in their children and in finding people who can help the process. From a cumulative amount of parent feedback and student accomplishments, Dr. Pace has learned something of her role in that process.
- 3. Program: It is time to resurrect Dr. Pace's Whiz Kids Series!

DR. PACE'S Revitalized WHIZ KIDS SERIES (see inside for schedule)

The Whiz Kids Series introduces elementary school students to higher order problem solving, while preparing them for high stakes tests, such as the ACT, SAT, SSAT, ISSE, HSPT, TerraNova, special Scholarship tests and Talent Searches.

[From Business Insider: The Smartest Colleges in America (9/19/13): "Though these tests are often criticized, research shows that both the SAT and ACT are excellent measures of general cognitive ability."]

Former members of Dr. Pace's Whiz Kids have gone on to make noteworthy accomplishments: One former Whiz Kid earned the second highest MCAT score in the U.S.; another, a perfect SAT score; and another works at Oxford University. Featured in this Newsletter are two of Dr. Pace's former Whiz Kids, the Baldassano brothers:

Steve Baldassano finished his first year in U Penn's M.D./Ph.D. program and is doing well.

Chris Baldassano (with his beautiful wife and adorable son) is expected to graduate from Stanford University with a Ph.D. in Computer Science/Artificial Intelligence in December 2014.

Late Fall 2013 / Winter 2014 Newsletter & Schedule

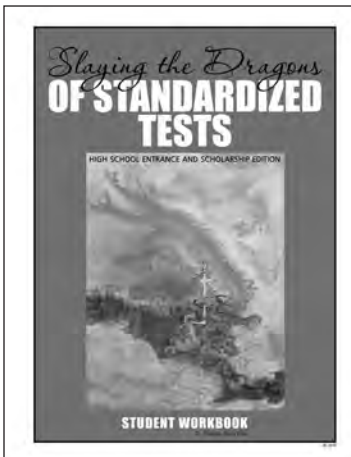

DR. PACE IS GOING TO OXFORD UNIVERSITY

to collaborate with her nephew, Dr. Matthew Pace at Oxford's Nuffield Department of Medicine, on the new Whiz Kids Series. Matthew, featured in the last Newsletter, demonstrated at a very young age an inexhaustible ability to learn and a visible love of learning. These characteristics inspired Dr. Pace to create a program that would introduce like-minded children to the joys and mysteries of higher order thinking and problem solving. Because space is limited, the November Whiz Kids weekend will focus on finding young people who are good candidates to continue forward in the program. Candidates for the Whiz Kids program need not be geniuses; however, they do need to demonstrate a genuine desire to learn, the ability to focus and to behave appropriately. Future Whiz Kids sessions will offer holistic programs to nurture emotional and spiritual intelligence as well as IQ.

DRAGON SLAYER TESTIMONIES

Our son was able to gain many practical tools and practices to prepare for and perform on the test. Dr. Pace creates a fun and non-threatening environment for students to thrive. She has the best interests of the students to perform and succeed.

Joe and Karen Warwick, and Connor, Saint Ephrem School

A wonderful holistic approach to helping our children prepare for taking the high school entrance exams. I highly recommend it!

Mrs. Wendy Parsons, and Isabel, Abington Junior High

Education isn't just knowledge learned but the ability to better study to gain knowledge. Dr. Pace's course helped our son to focus and create better study habits.

Ted and Jeanne O'Neill, and Patrick, Cab Calloway School of the Arts, Wilmington, DE
